

Boy Scouts Hold County Rally At Montevallo

Boys From Montevallo, Calera, And Wilton Attend Meeting At Scout Cabin Here

Last Tuesday, August 8, Boy Scouts from Montevallo, Wilton, and Calera met at the Scout cabin of Montevallo Troop 59.

The rally opened at 9 a.m. with Activities Director Woolley and District Commissioner Splawn in charge. Calera's troop came under the leadership of Rev. Wynn, while Montevallo's troop was under its various leaders during the day with Assistant Scoutmaster James Woolley being in charge most of the time. Wilton Scouts were under Mr. Splawn.

The rally was quite the biggest thing that has ever been attempted in the county before by the Scouts. With only Columbiana's troop missing, Scout leaders expressed the feeling that this rally would tend to boost Scouting all over the county.

Activities opened in the morning with Mr. Hall Moodall, assistant Scout executive of the Black Warrior Council, leading the boys in a short ceremony. After this ceremony the program went as follows:

9:00—Opening by staff.
9:45—Registration of patrols.
10:45—Inspection.
11:00—Opening ceremony.
11:05—Dinner preparation and meal.

1:00—Assembly, drilling, games.
3:00—Swimming.
3:45—Supper preparation and meal.

5:45—Campcraft inspection.
6:00—Flag ceremony.
7:30—Campfire.
8:30—Court of Honor.
9:30—Dismiss.

Most of the Scouts enjoyed the swim most of all, although some enjoyed the games more.

The whole day was climaxed by the night's activities. At the campfire each patrol had a stunt to give; songs were sung, and several good speeches were made.

At the Court of Honor three Scouts advanced from tenderfoot to first class. Two boys received Star rank after getting merit badges approved. One boy got four merit badges confirmed.

Everybody agrees that this first county-wide rally was one of the biggest and best things that could have been done to promote Scouting. Next time it is hoped that more troops will be on hand. It is also hoped that more public spirited citizens will attend the evening ceremonies.

Bankers Plan A Program Of Farm Assistance

Realizing that the ultimate prosperity of Alabama depends upon an increase in the purchasing power of the farmers of this state, the Alabama Bankers Association has undertaken a comprehensive educational program designed to increase farm incomes. The organization proposes to demonstrate the advantages of efficient farm management by sponsoring a representative farm in each county, Maclin F. Smith, president, announced today.

This activity of the state-wide banking organization will be conducted by its agricultural committee, of which Wallace D. Malone, president of the First National Bank of Dothan, is chairman.

Under this plan a banker in each of the 67 counties of Alabama, with the assistance of the local county agent, will select at least one farm owner whose income is below the possibilities of his farm, and combine their efforts to materially increase it.

The banker will furnish all necessary financial assistance, and the county agent will supervise operation of the farm selected.

In this manner other farmers of the county agent will be shown how

Health Department Active During The Past Month

During the past month the County Health Department has given 559 typhoid immunizations, has immunized 121 babies and children against diphtheria, has done 36 tuberculin skin tests, and had 60 suspects X-rayed.

One hundred and twenty-two blood tests have been made and 273 treatments given in the venereal disease clinics.

Other activities included investigation of a number of communicable diseases, inspection of eating establishments and dairies, visits to tuberculosis patients, infant, pre-school, prenatal, and postnatal visits.

The Health Department, in an effort to bring its services to all parts of the county, has established branch offices at Montevallo and Vincent.

Through the cooperation of the County Board of Revenue and the State Health Department, a sanitation officer has been added to the personnel of the County Health Department. This will make it possible to begin work on one of the county's greatest needs—sanitation.—Dr. E. F. Sloan, County Health Officer.

Changes in Squirrel and Rabbit Seasons Are Announced At Montgomery

Montgomery, Ala. — Changes in the squirrel season and fixing a closed season on rabbits in Alabama are included in the 1939-40 game and fish regulations announced this week by Dr. Walter B. Jones, director of the State Department of Conservation.

The rabbit, on which there has been no closed season in the past, will enjoy protection from hunters using guns except in the open season which was fixed as October 1 through February 20. During this open season on rabbits there is no bag limit. Rabbits may be hunted the year round with sticks and dogs.

Instead of having a uniform state-wide open season on squirrels, Dr. Jones announced that there would be a split season this year for North Alabama and South Alabama, with U. S. Highway 80 being the dividing line. The open season in North Alabama will be October 1 through January 1, and for South Alabama, October 15 through January 15.

Open season on ducks, doves and other migratory birds under the jurisdiction of the federal government, are expected to be announced soon.

The new state hunting regulations provide that federal firearms regulations apply to all hunting in Alabama. In other words, hunters taking any game bird or animal in Alabama this year must use a plugged shotgun not larger than 10-gauge and which will not hold more than three shells at one loading.

Bag limits and open season on deer remain the same, November 20 to December 31, with the exception that several additional counties were closed to deer hunting this year. The counties in which deer hunting is closed this year are as follows: Butler, Jefferson, Walker, Tuscaloosa, Morgan, Win-

Revival services are being held during this week, with Dr. Pearson doing the preaching and Rev. Charles Mullins leading the singing. A Bible school is being conducted before the morning services under the direction of Rev. Otis Williams and Miss Eleanor Atchison. Large crowds are attending the revival, and much interest is being shown.

School of Instruction Vocational Home Economics

Dr. J. B. Hobdy, state director of vocational education, Montgomery, was speaker at the general assembly hour on Wednesday. His discussion dealt with administrative questions concerning the vocational program. Mrs. Hobdy accompanied him on this visit to Montevallo.

The annual initiation program for teachers attending School of Instruction for the first time was held at the Field House Thursday night. A program of original stunts by the initiates served as entertainment for the program. Dancing and refreshments were also enjoyed by the group.

Dr. Irwin T. Sanders spoke at general assembly Friday on the topic, "Human Relationships." His interesting discussion centered around the idea of keeping perspective in social relationships. He outlined various concepts in relation to social groups and human relationships.

The total enrollment of attendance at School of Instruction is 144.

Miss Lillian Barksdale was called home last week-end on account of the sudden death of her brother-in-law, Mr. A. J. Vaughan. Friends of the town and the college will recall his daughter, Anna, who was a student at Alabama College three years ago.

The Student Government Association entertained faculty and students at a dance in the Field House from 8 to 11 Saturday night, August 5. The School of Instruction received a special invitation. Celia Methvin, president of the association, was in charge. She was assisted by Frances Norton, who took charge of refreshments, and Harriette Donahoo, who took charge of the music. This is the second dance for which the nickelodeon, bought by the Athletic Association of Alabama College, has been used.

NOTES FROM HIGH SCHOOL

Members of Miss Barker's Sr. 11 English class have been making a thorough study of America's most famous and successful writers from the colonial period down to modern generations.

Having stuck strictly to the text book for two weeks, Miss Barker turned the English classes into a "Community Sing" program at which time each class sang songs and ballads that fitted the material they have been studying.

In Miss Barksdale's American history class the students have been studying American progress from the period of discovery through modern times, including a study of the organization of our government and the establishment of a new nation.

As a diversion from routine work, Miss Barker entertained the American literature class with ghost

Annual Event Has Official Endorsement of Mayor And Leading Citizens

Montevallo's annual Clean-Up Week will be observed from August 14 to August 19. Clean-Up Week is observed each year during one week in August, and is featured by a general weed-cutting and clean-up campaign by Montevallo citizens and organizations.

Official endorsement is given the observance this year by our Mayor, Dr. Charles T. Acker; Dr. A. F. Harman, president of Alabama College; Dr. W. D. Jackson, president of the Montevallo Civic Club; and officers and members of the different ladies' clubs of the city.

According to Mayor Acker, the city truck will call for and dispose of all rubbish during Clean-Up Week. He asks the cooperation of the people of Montevallo in this worthwhile undertaking in order that our town may be neat and attractive when school opens and students and visitors arrive. Many students will be accompanied to Montevallo by their parents and friends. Wouldn't you like for our town to impress them by an ordilinance and neat appearance? The leaders in Clean-Up Week are asking that all property holders strive to clean up all privately owned property, residence lots, vacant lots, sidewalks, and other property. The city will clean all streets, sidewalks, and other publicly owned property as its contribution to the endeavor.

Cotton Plans To Be Heard By Civic Clubs

Hollandale, Miss., Aug. 10—Civic clubs in 12 southern and western states will hear a program on the work of the National Cotton Council, for which material was mailed this week by the Rotary Club of Hollandale.

An address, music and literature for a program entitled "King Cotton Attacks" have been sent to officials of 2,500 clubs with a total of 100,000 members in the Cotton Belt, President W. C. Galceran of the Hollandale club announced today.

The club raised funds for the project by giving each of its 26 members a $5 bill with instructions to put it to work and bring back the principal later, plus all earnings.

The program will feature an address by a club leader, who will summarize the present plight of cotton. The loss of export markets, the growth of foreign production, the rapid rise of rayon and other competition, and the drop in cotton prices and Cotton Belt income will be described against the background of cotton men's former "lackadaisical attitude" toward their economic enemies.

In contrast the speaker will sound a fresh note of optimism born of the Cotton Belt's determination to unite through the National Cotton Council for an aggressive attack on its common problems. The Council's history and its organization of state units and county committees, with equal representation for the different cotton interests, will be explained. Finally the three-fold program of action to build cotton consumption through research, advertising, and removal of trade barriers will be outlined.

FARMING TALK IS ALSO CHANGING

Grove Hill, Ala.—The old farmer greeting of "How's your crops?" is fading in this "neck of the woods," says A. S. Johnson, prominent farmer of Thomasville in Clarke County.

The old greeting passed between two farmers isn't heard now. Instead, livestock has entered the picture and now it's "How's your pastures?"

CLEAN-UP WEEK

Montevallo is a beautiful little town of which we may all be proud. By observance of Clean-Up Week August 14-19, we can make it more so. Our cooperation will contribute materially to our town's reputation as an orderly and well-kept place.

When the students of Alabama College return next month many of them will bring their parents with them. Let's show these people from other parts of Alabama that Montevallo has civic pride and that her citizens can join wholeheartedly in a worthwhile project.

$8,000,000 DEPOT

One day last week Alabama's Senator Lister Hill walked out of the office of War Secretary Harry Woodring, told the Associated Press he was "highly pleased" over an announcement the War Department would shortly make. Next day it came: To Mobile was awarded an $8,000,000 air depot, a project for which competition had been stiff, as part of the Army's most important Caribbean portion of new national defense developments. Some location on the Bay south of Arlington Pier, a municipal play-spot, will be selected soon, possibly will include municipal Bates Field in which case the city will have to get another airport. A personnel of around 1,000, mostly civilians, will service and rebuild all types of Army aircraft. Expected annual payroll: $1,500,000. Thus another big boost was given to fast-growing Mobile.—Alabama Magazine.

Mr. W. M. Wyatt returned last Thursday to the Veterans Hospital in Tuscaloosa for further treatment. We hope that he will be able to return home soon.

COTTON QUERY

There's a Cabin in the Cotton,
But no Cotton in the Cabin;
Aunt Jemima's gettin' supper
In a dress of acetate;
Uncle Peter in a polo Shirt
And pants of rayon yarn,
Wears a tie of purple silk-spun
While he's milking in the barn;
Sara Manth's peelin' taters in
Her brand new celanese;
Arabella in her bemberg
's on the doorstep shellin' peas;
Baby Ned and little Eva,
Crawlin' round the cabin floor,
Have on little lastex rompers
From the 5 and 10-cent store;
Oh! the Cabin's in the Cotton still,
Just like in verse and song,
But with no Cotton in the Cabin, will
It be there very long?

—Chas. E. Fenner.

You just can't get by with it when you are fooling with Uncle Sam. Last year, says he, a great many farmers with white cotton marketing cards (penalty free) helped their neighbors with excess cotton by ginning it along with their own to keep him from being penalized. This year the white card man had better take care of himself because he might lose all of his payments if he is caught doing his neighbor this favor.

Alabamians should now be able to understand the new food stamp plan being used in the distribution of surplus food to needy families. Birmingham has been selected as the fourth city in which the new plan is to be put into operation. The families buy the surplus products with the stamps issued to them each week.

The Cheapest Hired Help

"I LEARNED many years ago that wired help was by far the cheapest hired help."

Mrs. J. Burke Land, our good customer on Route 3, Montgomery, Ala., wrote us that, and it is her way of saying that Alabama Power Company electric rates are low. Mrs. Land is not alone in thinking so--almost every one of the nearly 4,000 customers who recently wrote us expressed a similar conclusion. They came to that conclusion after comparing the modest amounts of their bills with the many services received from the electricity they used. Many who use numerous electrical appliances wrote that the pleasure of dependable electric light alone was worth the entire amount of their bills.

If you are not making full use of electric service in your home, inquire about the rates the next time you pay your bill, and learn how the rate goes down with increased use of electricity.

Legal Beer Brings Jobs For Idle

Birmingham, Ala. — David E. Dunn, director of the Brewers and Alabama Beer Distributors Committee, told the Birmingham Rotary Club today that the national beer industry had absorbed 7 per cent of the 15,000,000 persons out of work when beer was re-legalized in 1933.

Outlining the committee's "clean up or close up" campaign aimed at the bad spots among Alabama's beer outlets, Mr. Dunn urged support of the movement on the grounds that "public opinion, once aroused, can and will operate to bring about the orderly conduct of retail outlets which we all desire."

Stressing the economic benefits arising from the legal sale of beer, Mr. Dunn told the Rotarians that since 1933 brewers had paid more than $300,000,000 in wages, and an equal amount for American farm products used in manufacturing beer.

"Some idea," he said, "is gained by the fact that it takes a whole acre of barley to make 21 barrels of beer."

Here in Alabama, he said, the industry gives employment to more than 5,000 persons with an annual payroll of $4,700,000 and pays state, county, and city taxes in excess of one million dollars annually.

The work of the committee, he said, was strictly one of self-regulation through cooperation with the Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

Latest action of the committee's self-regulation came this week in the revocation of the license of the Sunny Side Tourist Camp at Selma upon evidence obtained by the industry's own investigator after complaints had been received of the establishment's operation.

This action came simultaneously with the revocation of the licenses of the Dixie Cafe, Montgomery;

Son's Tavern, Mobile; Lonnie's Place Opelika, and the Lucia's Cafe of Birmingham, in cases initiated by the ABC Board's own agents.

LEGUMES BUILD BIG YIELDS FOR FARMER

Guntersville, Ala.—In 1933 H. A. Staton, of Sand Mountain, was just an ordinary farmer growing 15 bushels of corn and about one-half bale of cotton per acre. Today he is a successful farmer growing 35 bushels of corn and more than a bale of cotton per acre.

With the coming of the adjustment program in 1933, Mr. Staton decided to use his rental checks to purchase winter legume seed. He now plants about 70 acres of crimson clover, producing his own planting seed.

Through the increased yield of corn, Mr. Staton has increased his poultry flock to 400 laying hens from which he is realizing a nice profit. He also has two brood mares.

We DeliverNUMBER OF HORSES IS DECREASING

If war breaks out in Europe, America will not be able to supply the enormous number of horses and mules which she did in the last World War, according to Dr. I. S. McAdory, State Veterinarian.

"Our horse population has suffered a marked decline in the last decade and is growing smaller year by year," says Dr. McAdory. "Last year there were 328,000 fewer horses than the year before, and 61,000 fewer colts were foaled last year than the year before. Despite this fact, the value of these farm animals is exceeded only by that of dairy cattle. This means that if European armies come to America for their horses as they did during the last war, good horses will be harder to obtain and prices will rise more rapidly."

"Because horses are today more scarce and more valuable than they have been for a number of years, they should be given the best care possible. During hot summer months extra precautions should be taken to avoid heat stroke; horses should have plenty of cool drinking water, given frequent rest periods on very hot days, given rations which are not too heating, and provided access to good shade."

"Most farmers are on their guard against the current wave of sleeping sickness, but any horses which have not been immunized should be protected immediately. When one realizes that the horse population is decreasing steadily, and that it takes nearly two years to produce a new colt, the importance of safeguarding those horses which we do have is increasingly clear."

STORE EMPLOYEES HELP TO HARVEST HIDDEN TAX CROP

Shelby County has an estimated 498 "unofficial tax collectors" who indirectly are helping local, state and national governments harvest their annual revenues, the National Consumers Tax Commission declared today.

The unofficial, and generally unwilling, "tax collectors," according to the NCTC, are the proprietors and employees in the 224 local retail stores.

"There are 475 official tax levying and spending governmental agencies in Alabama," said Mrs. Melville Muckelstone, president of the nation-wide women's organization. "But every clerk behind a store counter is actually a tax collector, too."

The NCTC now has study groups in approximately 5,000 communities in 45 states in its educational campaign to expose "unnecessary consumer-penalizing taxes," Mrs. Muckelstone said.

TIRED—WORN OUT ENERGY GONE

That is a terrible condition to allow yourself to get into when it is usually so easy to avoid or correct. CONSTIPATION is the usual cause since the waste accumulation in the intestines causes a certain amount of poisons to become absorbed into the Blood stream and carried to all parts of the Body. If allowed to continue this condition may cause serious complications too numerous to mention. Clean out your system and stimulate your Bowels to a regular, normal and complete elimination. Take Taylor's Vega-Cal, PURELY VEGETABLE, pleasant tasting and recommended for both adults and children. Four sizes—Liquid 35c and 60c, Powder 10c and 25c, at all drug stores.

Cotton Acreage Is 2,121,000 Acres

Auburn, Ala. — The acreage of cotton in cultivation in Alabama on July 1 amounted to 2,121,000, according to a report issued by J. C. Garrett, agricultural statistician of the Alabama Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. This is 2 per cent increase over the acreage in cultivation on July 1 last year, but is 21.6 per cent smaller than the July 1 acreage in 1937.

Abandonment last year after July 1 due to natural causes together with the acreage destroyed voluntarily to comply with AAA allotments was 1 per cent. Average abandonment during the 10-year period 1929-38 amounted to .7 per cent.

The acreage of cotton in cultivation in the United States on July 1 is estimated by the Crop Reporting Board to be 24,943,000 acres, which is three-fourths of one per cent less than the 25,018,000 acres on July 1, 1938, 32.2 per cent less than the 1828-37 average, and 14.4 per cent less than the 1934-38 average.

While very little change occurred in the total United States cotton acreage in 1939 in comparison with 1938, substantial changes took place in some states. In the group showing reduction, Virginia led with 15 per cent, followed by North Carolina and Arizona with 11 per cent, California with 6 per cent, Florida with 5 per cent, and Texas with 2 per cent. Georgia, Tennessee, and South Carolina are estimated to have the same acreage as last year. One per cent increase is shown in Mississippi and Louisiana, and an increase of 2 per cent is indicated for Arkansas, Alabama, and New Mexico. Missouri shows an increase of 4 per cent and Oklahoma an increase of 7 per cent over 1938.

Crops Listed For Abandoned Land

Auburn, Ala.—It is time now to think about the land which has not been planted or has been abandoned because of the continued rains. No doubt you may be concerned about the feed supply for next winter, says J. C. Lowry, Extension agronomist.

It is not too late to plant certain feed crops which with normal rains may still give fair yields, at least will produce enough feed to last until oats and pastures are ready next spring.

Soybeans such as Ootootan and Laredo will produce fair yields of good quality hay if planted on good land. Then there is the old standby—cowpeas. Varieties, such as Whippoorwill and Brabham, may be planted well into July. The Cowpea is valuable for hay, grazing, and human food.

And there's sorghum—a crop which will produce fair yields of hay despite unfavorable conditions. A patch of sorghum hay has prevented many farmers from buying feed.

On fertile soil, Sudan grass will produce an excellent grade of grass hay.

And don't forget the old-fashioned mixture of sorghum and cowpeas. It is always a good one for planting on fertile, moist areas.

The grain sorghums attract the attention of many farmers because a few farmers here and there make outstanding success with them. On the average, in Alabama grain sorghums have not been very satisfactory because of the sorghum midge. If you desire to try a grain sorghum, you should get one known as Sagrain as it has given the best results in Alabama up to now.

Don't overlook corn—especially such varieties as Mexican June, Jarvis Prolific, Truckers' Favorite. The standard varieties may be planted in some sections on the better lands.

The rooster, hen, and the "biddle" are perhaps getting more attention in the United States this week than ever before. Up in Cleveland they are the sights and subjects of the World's Poultry Congress. John Ivey, poultryman of the Alabama Extension Service, says 100 hens might be a good thing on all Alabama farms, especially as long as they equal seven bales of cotton and over a year.

Game Laws

ston, Lawrence, Franklin, Cullman, Talladega, Calhoun, Clay, Cleburne, Bibb, Chilton, Perry, and that part of Dallas County north of Highway 80.

The wild turkey season also was unchanged. The split season, November 20 through December 31 and March 15 through April 15 will be in effect again this year. The quail season, November 20 through February 20, also remains the same.

A closed season on the otter was decreed. The beaver and muskrat, two other valuable Alabama fur-bearers, were already on the closed season list.

All size and creel limits on game fish remain unchanged for the next twelve months. The only new regulation concerning fish applies to the mullet. Hereafter, it will be illegal to possess sell or offer for sale mullet under 10 inches long. Another regulation passed several months ago providing that catfish taken for commercial purposes must be 15 inches long, remains in effect.

Complete game and fish regulations and laws may be secured free of charge by writing the Editor of Publication, Conservation Department, Montgomery, Ala.

Bankers' Program

efficient farm management, with proper use of bank credit, can bring about a substantial increase in farm income.

"Seventy-five per cent of the citizens of Alabama are directly connected with agriculture, and by increasing the income of our farmers we can materially increase the prosperity of our state," Mr. Smith explained in commenting about the plan.

"While the prosperity of many Alabama farmers demonstrates their ability to supply sound principles of management, our agricultural committee feels that there are thousands of others who will benefit materially by a definite, concrete demonstration of proper farm operation on privately owned farms in each county.

"We believe it will be possible in many cases to double or even treble the income of a given farm in this manner, and that other farmers in the vicinity, observing the success of these methods, will adopt them for their own gain.

"In this work our organization has been assured the whole-hearted cooperation of the extension service of Alabama Polytechnic Institute under Director P. O. Davis; the Agricultural Experiment Stations under Dean M. J. Funchess; and the State Department of Agriculture under Commissioner Hagood Patterson."

Plans for the Alabama State Fair sloganed to "sell Alabama and Alabamians to the World," got off to a flying start recently with an all-Alabama luncheon when only products of the state were included on the menu.

Summer School Notes

stories, after which members of the class took their turns at telling the ghost stories they knew.

The members of Miss Barksdale's Sr. III economics class have been studying "Our Economic Society and Its Problems." They have studied the economic life in ancient times and have followed it up to the present.

Miss Barker's Sr. III English class, like the economics class, has been studying the poets and writers of ancient times. One of the most interesting personalities they have studied thus far is Robert Burns, whose poems and ballads have proved to be very entertaining.

Several students from out of town are with us this summer. They are Haynes Armstrong of Centreville; Edward Blackmon, of Siluria; Brownie Carroll, of Birmingham; Estelle Roy, of Deatsville; Lorraine Bryant, of Jackson; Elizabeth Dempsey, of Ashland; L. O. Farris, of Siluria; Inez McLeod, of Birmingham; Frances Popwell, of Clanton.

We deeply regret the loss of two of our students. Herbert Glasscock left for that all-important job and Wilbert Anderson was forced to leave because of sickness in his family.

Misses Kate and Clara Simpson of Montgomery spent last week-end with Miss Virginia Kennedy. Miss Jane Treller, also of Montgomery, visited her sister, Mrs. A. F. Harman, over the week-end.

Mrs. Julia P. Hardy, Miss Ouida

Thompson, and Dr. M. L. Orr are spending a few days this week at Chapel Hill, N. C., where they are attending a workshop held at the University of North Carolina.

Mrs. Lena Nelson Jeter is spending her vacation in Mobile where she is visiting her mother and sister.

Miss Mattie Lee has gone to Hayneville on her vacation.

Miss Jack Bowden has returned from her vacation which she spent in Fort Walton, Florida, and Monteville, Ala.

Miss Margaret Hannah Haslam spent her vacation in Piedmont and Greenville.

Misses Marion and Annie Mary Jones-Williams have left for New York to start their vacation. Later, they will sail for Bermuda. Bon Voyage! During the absence of Miss Marion Jones-Williams from the Home Study Service Office, Miss Louise Lucas, a recent graduate of Alabama College, is substituting as secretary.

Miss Charlotte Claybrooke had as her guest this week her mother, Mrs. Viola Claybrooke, and her sister, Miss Mary Claybropke, of Scottsboro.

Misses Vera Nell and Lorraine Harper, Fay Reynolds, and Mrs. Shaufeur Stanford of Demopolis visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butler Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hooker and Mrs. H. C. Hicks and son, Gene, of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Banks and daughter, Elizabeth, of Republic, were Sunday guests of Mrs. W. A. Hooker.
